A message from the Assistant Headteachers

We have had a great week this week. Mrs Joy has provided regular updates from her trip to Lee Abbey. It sounds like the children (and adults!) all had a great time and we cannot wait to hear all about it properly next week!

We will be having a school party day on Monday 16th October during which we plan to have a disco per decade, enjoy some classic children's films from each decade as well as some other treats. Please see the email that was sent out on Wednesday of this week.

The Reception team hosted a meeting about the curriculum in Reception. Thank you to the team for organising this. I am sure those who were able to attend found it useful. Keep an eye on newsletters for any future dates.

Have a good weekend.
Best Wishes,

Mrs O'Brien and Mrs Keates

Interland Assembly

This week, some of the classes participated in a special Interland assembly run by Google. The assembly was all about being an 'Internet Legend'. We found out that there were lots of different aspects of being an internet legend, including:

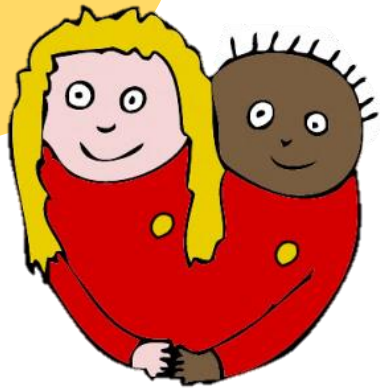

- Being sharp
- Being alert
- Being secure
- Being kind
- Being brave

Throughout the assembly, Buzzards class found out lots of useful tips and information such as:

- Thinking and asking permission before we share anything online
- 66 million people go online daily in the UK
- Check information we read online is true. Think, 'If it's too good to be true, it probably is.'
- If a website has a padlock on the address bar then it is a secure website
- 123456 is one of the most common passwords
- Think of a password as if it were a key. You wouldn't have one key for everything at home so don't have one password for every log in online
- When writing something online, say it out loud and think, 'Would I say that to the person's face?' If the answer is no, don't write it online!

At the end of the assembly, the presenters told us about an Internet Legends game which is free to play. This game can be accessed via the link below.
